A restaurant refurbishment was completed in 2016 including a new M-iQ rack transport dishwasher from Meiko.

Iain Bird, Chief Engineer complimented Meiko's detailed cost projections, provided by Meiko UK's Business Development Manager – Business & Industry, Mark Sharland.

These illustrated clear gains in sustainability including significant reductions in power, water and chemicals consumption, compared to the existing dishwash system from another German manufacturer.

"We were given additional confidence to choose Meiko because the machine came with an extended parts & labour warranty – a good indicator that a company believes in the reliability of its product," said Bird.
